

Behaviour and self-development

The Learning Process

Good behaviour in a school is central to the learning process. All Saints' has worked hard developing our policy, and with parents' support, it works well.

We encourage the children, at all times, to practice self-discipline. For this reason, All Saints uses an "Assertive Discipline Policy" which is integral to our Behaviour Policy, a copy of which is available in school and on the website. This policy provides for a school-wide and consistent approach, ensuring that all children are dealt with justly and fairly.

The system focuses on making children aware that they are responsible for their own actions and on rewarding good behaviour. If aggressive, inconsiderate or destructive behaviour becomes a problem, children may suffer loss of privileges and the situation will be discussed with parents to try to find a solution.

Parental co-operation is vital

Children find it very difficult when they are told by parents to do things contrary to the school rules e.g. hitting back. We cannot accept this as a form of justice due to the repercussions it would have if everyone followed this code, as it only encourages violent behaviour. We hope to work together with parents in the best interests of children.
